A CAT PARTICIPATING WITH HEALERS

Brian Dailey, MD

Our Reiki circle met at Susie Cotsworth's for the first time today. Her cat Homey decided to participate. I had been holding my hand above this individual's shoulder, when Homey put his paw out and did the same. He spread his toes. I am sensitive to energy and saw him sending it to her (which is why I am laughing in the picture). He proceeded to lift his paw numerous times to treat various different individuals (I have other pictures, but this one came out best).

He is a very loving cat, and the group enjoyed him so much we are meeting again at Susie's next week (usually we rotate each week). Never mind that we have massage therapists, reflexologists, multiple Reiki masters and other great energy healers in our group. I'm chopped liver. They are coming back for Homey next week. One-upped by a cat!

Homey repeatedly held one of his paws up for up to two minutes – over the appropriate location on the person needing healing. On one occasion, he lay on my chest purring (a form of resonant tuning), and I could feel him distinctly sending energy from his chest into my 4th chakra – felt warm and wonderful. When a person on the table had a sore left thigh, Homey massaged it with his paws.
